Street Snippets-Mark Miller 2021-05-26 Streets Snippets started in 2016 as a project for my son's 8th grade English class in New York City. The original concept was to give the kids a snippet of conversation heard on the streets of the city, and have each student write an original story based upon that snippet. After my son graduated from middle school, the platform wasn't used for several years. It seemed logical to reopen the platform as an extension of the online curriculum development being created as an educational alternative during the COVID pandemic in 2020. When I first approached John Bapst High School in Bangor, Maine about using the Street Snippets platform for their 2020-2021 creative writing class, little did I know the diversity of ideas and formats that would come from this talented group of high schooler's. The first indication was when a request came through to submit a poem instead of a story. Sure, I thought, that would be fun. That was soon followed by requests for publishing songs, cartoon strips and images. The formats went far beyond the basic short story. What you will find in this book are the stories and projects created by the authors at John Bapst. We have kept the stories as written, laying them out as closely as possible to the format created by the authors. The stories in the book are arranged by snippet, with each story beginning with the snippet for that month. As you read through each chapter, you will find a diverse set of ideas, each original, each personal, that takes the snippet as its opening line and then has the story run its course. Each of the stories can be found in its original form on the Street Snippets site. If you like a particular story, you can leave a comment for the author when you visit the site. As the publisher of Street Snippets, I couldn't be prouder of the authors from John Bapst. I look forward to working with next year's students as we continue to encourage and promote the work of the next generation of authors.

Cora Ravenwing-Gina Wilson 2013-06-20 'The school where I first met Cora Ravenwing was called Okington School, and I was just beginning to have real ideas and opinions of my own when I first went there...' With Cora Ravenwing (1980) Gina Wilson began her acclaimed career as a novelist for young adults. As she describes in a new preface to this reissue, the idea for the novel 'took a grip' on her such that she wrote without 'planning', inspired by the theme of a child's growing sense of intuition. 'A sensitive, mystery-tinged portrayal of social tensions... Cora Ravenwing, village scapegoat, is the first child whom narrator Becky Stokes meets when her family moves outside London in the mid-1950s; and her reflections deftly pick up the undercurrents of gossip, hostility, and social pretension that power the story of their year's troubled friendship.' Digital Media Criticism-Anandam P. Kavoori 2010 Digital Media Criticism is an introductory text about media criticism - the act of interpreting and making sense of a range of new media texts that we use (and create) on a daily basis - offering a critical language and a methodological template for interrogating and analyzing the complex texts of digital media. Individual chapters connect key methods of media criticism - genre, auteur, cultural/ideological, and ethnographic - with digital culture. Case studies of social media, user generated content, cell phones, and video games are provided, which include everything from downloading ring tones and making new (Facebook) friends, to creating an avatar, texting, and opening a window on RL (real-life). Insightful and accessible, the book looks at the possibilities and limits of the digital age for us - as creators, consumers, and distributors of content. It will be useful to undergraduates studying media criticism, digital culture and communication, and media literacy, and is written to invite them into a conversation about the culture of the digital age.

Essays of a Catholic-Hilaire Belloc 2009-05 AN EYE-OPENING BOOK FROM A BRILLIANT, BELOVED CATHOLIC WRITER! Essays of a Catholic is a book as provocative now as it was when it first appeared in 1931. Hilaire Belloc's observations about our civilization's demise are all the more urgent today, because they are proving to be prophetic. We are troubled witnesses to many of the evils he predicted as we watch the working out of the destructive trends and forces that he warned would lead to disaster. What key insight led to Belloc's keen discernment of the times? He recognized that the Catholic Church has inspired and formed our great Western civilization. As the influence of that mighty institution wanes, then—as society slowly abandons what it has learned from her—the night—descends on our way of life as we have known it. In its stead emerges a new paganism, and with it, a new barbarism. In these essays, Belloc sharpens our awareness of the calamitous effects of this waning influence of the Catholic Church in society. There is hope for the future of our civilization—but only if we as a people embrace once more the liberating truth of the Catholic faith. The great Hilaire Belloc was one of the foremost Catholic historians of the past two centuries. His astute analysis of our cultural and social ills culminates in an urgent prophetic call for Western civilization to return to its Catholic roots.

Remembering Simplified Hanzi covers the writing and meaning of the 1,000 most commonly used characters in the traditional Chinese writing system, plus another 500 that are best learned at an early stage." "Of critical importance to the approach found in these pages is the systematic arranging of characters in an order best suited to memory. In the Chinese writing system, strokes and simple components are nested within relatively simple characters, which can, in turn, serve as parts of more complicated characters and so on.
